Douglas E. Koshland, Jr. Course Development
Grant Application

The Douglas E. Koshland, Jr. Course Development Grant provides funds to cover specific expenses incurred by graduate student instructors to develop new features for their R1A and R1B classes. Examples include but are not limited to the following: guest speakers, field trips, teaching and grading software or applications. Grants will be awarded on the merits of the course development proposal and distributed on a rolling basis. All applications must contain: a complete application cover sheet, a brief description of what the funds will be used for, and an itemization of expenses. The award maximum is generally $2,000. After the funds have been put to use, you should submit a one page account of what they helped you accomplish.

Please send completed applications to Katie Snyder (ksnyder@berkeley.edu) and Wendy Xin (wendy.v.xin@gmail.com).

Please enter all application requirements into this document and rename the file as follows:
